The Calling of Dan Matthews

By HAROLD BELL WRIGHT, Author of

"The Shepherd of the Hills" "That Printer of Udell's"

Each of his books has a possessive, distinctive element. That Printer of Udell's is notable, first of all for its wonderful "motive power," in portraying the practices of practical Christianity. The Shepherd of the Hills is conspicuous for its "story power," the goal of the storyteller's art, breathing an inspiration to the simple life.

The Calling of Dan Matthews, while different in treatment and style from the other two, is a combination of the motive power and the story power in one vital thrilling life-giving force of "thought power" out of which the ministry of daily life is the all-compelling incentive that grips the life and determination of its readers.

IMPORTANT NEW BOOKS

THE FIRST "SUFFRAGE" NOVEL

A Woman for Mayor

By HELEN M. WINSLOW

Former Editor of "The Clubwoman"

HAS MADE A HIT!

"The timeliness of the book and the capacity the author has shown in dealing with the problem should make the book popular. Even those who do not agree with the demands of the suffragists will find plenty to interest them and plenty of questions for them to think over in the novel. And it is, besides all the political interest, a readable book for the story itself."—Boston Globe.

Frontispiece (in color) by WALTER DEAN GOLDBECK
Illustrator of "A Little Brother of the Rich."

Standard Novel size, 12mo. Bound in maroon cloth. Striking four-colored jacket. Price, $1.50.

The Airship Boys Series

New Boys' Books of Adventure

By H. L. SAYLER

Aerial navigation, already holding a prominent place in the field of sport and pleasure, is approaching with all speed commercial utility and serviceability in war. Clearly it is a field for a new form of boys' literature involving invention, exploration and adventure.

The make-up of these books is strictly up-to-date and fetching. The covers are emblematic and the jackets are showy and in colors. The pictures illustrating the text are full of dash and vim. Standard novel size, 12mos. Price, $1.00 each.

NOTES IN SEASON.

PUBLISHERS are reminded that catalogues for insertion in the "Trade List Annual" must reach the binders, J. F. Tapley Company, 531 West Thirty-seventh Street, New York City, on or before July 31. For lists received after that date the binder makes an additional charge for extra collating that must be borne by the delinquent.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just brought out Mabel Osgood Wright's new novel, "Poppea of the Post Office." The scene of the story is laid partly in New York and in character is not unlike the author's "People of the Whirlpool." On the 21st inst., as already noted, they will bring out William Allen White's new book, entitled "A Certain Rich Man," the scene of which is laid in Kansas.

THE BIBLIOTHECA SACRA Co., Oberlin, O., has just ready a work entitled "Miracle and Science," by Francis J. Lamb, an attorney and counsellor at law, who has made an examination of the Bible record of miracles by the methods, rules and standards of the science of jurisprudence as administered to-day in courts of justice. The book is thought worthy of being compared with Greenleaf's "Testimony of the Evangelists."

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY, Akron, O., will publish in August The Youth's Companion prize story, entitled "Sixty-Five on Time," by Miss Jean K. Bird. This tale revels in outdoor life, chronicling the doings of a merry crowd of campers on the top of a peak of the Alleghenies. Their coming is closely connected with the life and happiness of a railroader's family whose home is at the foot of the mountain.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have just ready "The Patience of John Moreland," by Mary Dillon, a historical novel of the Washington of the days when Monroe was President and Calhoun and Clay were dominating the Senate; when a young senator came from Tennessee, who became Secretary of War and afterwards Minister to Spain and married the heroine, one of the celebrated women of her day. Kitty McCabe she is called in the story, and the hero is John Moreland, but these fictitious names will easily be changed by lovers of American history. They have also ready a new volume of the Pocket Kipling, containing "From Sea to Sea" and "Letters of Travel," bound in one volume.

HENRY HOLT & COMPANY have just ready "The Infamous John Friend," by Mrs. R. S. Garnett, a daughter-in-law of the late Richard Garnett. This is said to be an unusually stirring romance of the time of Napoleon's projected invasion of England. Although he is infamous, John Friend has many graces and good traits, including courage and tenderness. Among the great people of the time who figure vividly in these pages are Napoleon, Mrs. Fitzherbert, wife of the then Prince of Wales, William Pitt and Charles Fox. They have also just ready the third volume in their new mathematical series a "College Algebra," by Professors H. L. Rietz and A. R. Crathorne of the University of Illinois. Like the "Calculus" and "Trigonometry" in the same series, the "Algebra" is intended for use in any college course in its field, but is especially well adapted for classes in technical schools by reason of its application of the subject to problems of physics and engineering. An interesting and welcome feature of the book is a review of secondary school algebra.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books issued by publishers who protect the prices of their new publications are preceded in this list by the double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. Works of fiction (not net) of which a minimum price is protected by their publishers, are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not protected are preceded by a single asterisk *, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Abbott, Twyman O. Abbott's automobile law for motorists; the law of the road and principles of the law of negligence; with a compilation of the motor vehicle statutes enacted by the various states. Chic., Reilly & Britton Co., 1909. c. 392 p. D. cl., $1.50; flex. leath., $2.50.

This volume of handy size for the pocket exactly defines the rights of motorists, as well as their obligations, as governed by the common law and specific enactments of the legislatures of the different states. Contains rules for owners and chauffeurs; the law of the road; principles of the law of negligence formulated by the author in accord with the law as interpreted by the courts; and complete motor vehicle statutes of the various states. Most useful for motor car owners.

Anderson, Bp. C. Palmerston. Confirmation or the laying on of hands. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1909. c. 45 p. 16°, pap., 10 c.

Jessie, a sweet little imaginative girl, had as her favorite playmate an old pollard willow, which she called "Playmate Polly" and to which she confided all her troubles and pleasures. An old crow was also a playmate, and Jessie felt badly when she found he was a thief, who had hidden silver spoons, her doll and many other things in the hollow trunk of "Playmate Polly."

Brandegge, T. S. Plantae Mexicanae Purpusiana. Berkeley, Cal., University of California Press, [1909.] 377-396 p. Q. (Univ. of California publications; Botany.) pap., 15 c.

Gives lists and descriptions of new species of plants collected by Dr. C. A. Purpus in the vicinity of San Luis Tultithanapa. They were collected in a hilly, mountainous region having few inhabitants and given over mainly to goats.

Bunyan, J. The pilgrim's progress; with an introd. and notes by Margaret A. Eaton. Bost., Educational Publishing Co., [1909.] c. 186 p. por. S. (Classic lib.) pap., 15 c.

Chi E. Annuario biografico italiano concenni sommari delle persone piu note del parlamento, dell' esercito, dell' armata, della magistratura, del clero, delle pubbliche amministrazioni, dell' insegnamento, della letteratura, dell' arte, dell' industria e del commercio, compilato a cura di Guido Biagi. [N. Y., G. E. Stechert & Co.,] 1908, [1909.] 83+278 p. D. hf. mor., $1.

The Who's who for Italy. The compiler is librarian of the Mediceo-Laurenziana and the Riccardiana libraries of Florence. His name is guarantee of the thoroughness with which the work is done. M. Biagi visited this country a year or two ago to attend an A. L. A. Conference.

Conway, Moncure Daniel. Moncure D. Conway; addresses and reprints, 1850-1907; published and unpublished work representing the literary and philosophical life of the author. Bost., Houghton Mifflin Co., 1909. c. 15+444 p. O. cl., $3.

Representative writings, for the most part out of print or unpublished work of the different periods of Dr. Conway's life, prepared by his family as a memorial volume. "Free schools of Virginia" was circulated privately in 1830; "The golden hour" was written in his anti-slavery campaign; "The earthward pilgrimage" was the first important publication of the author's religious work in London. Other shorter papers are added in sequence of time. The portrait is from the last photograph taken only a few weeks before Dr. Conway's death.

Copping, Arthur E. Gotty in furrin parts. N. Y., Mitchell Kennerley, [1909.] 8+301 p. pls. D. cl., $1.50.

The first story in which this delightful English sailor figures was called "Gotty and the Guvnor." The little boat "Betty" is sailed by Gotty with the help of the man that tells the story and a "gentleman mate," a cousin of the story teller, who knows nothing whatever of boats. This little crew goes to some of the coast cities of France, then north to Belgium and Holland. The adventures of the trio and what they saw in "furrin parts" make a lively story.

Crockett, Walter Hill. A history of Lake Champlain; the record of three centuries, 1609-1909. Burlington, Vt., Hobart J. Shanley Co., [1909.] c. 335 p. il. por. D. pap., 75 c.

Author is a well-known newspaper man, secretary and historian of the Vermont Society and other historical societies. This history, in sixteen chapters, covers the period from the discovery of the Lake to the present day. Gives physical description of the region, the history of Champlain, of the Jesuit Fathers, the border warfare between the French and Indians, the battle of Lake Champlain, the first naval engagement of the Revolution, and all the important events that have made three centuries of history of the beautiful Lake so interesting.

Current events index: cumulative guide to material in newspapers; [quarterly.] 1908. Madison, Wis., Wisconsin Library Commission, 1908, [1909.] 4°, subs., per year, $3.

Fourth quarterly issue for the year cumulated, serving as an index to newspapers for the entire year.

Davis, J.; Walter, and Julien, Fanny. Finger play reader. pts. 1 and 2, for first year classes. Bost., Heath, 1909. c. 6+136; 6+144 p. il. (partly col.) D. (Davis-Julien ser. of readers.) cl., ea., 35 c.; Teachers' ed., cl., ea., 50 c.

First author is District Superintendent of schools, New York City; second is first-year teacher Public School No. 8, The Bronx, N. Y. Reader is unique in plan, method and subject matter. It makes close connection between the kindergarten and early lessons in reading, utilizing the vocabulary, games and gifts familiar in the kindergarten. From this basis is built up attractive reading matter in which action, nature work and dramatic interpretations are prominent. The Teachers' edition gives detailed, helpful instruction page by page, and develops phonic work systematically from the outset. Very attractively illustrated.

Depreciated currency and diminished railway rates; an inquiry conducted by the Railway World for the purpose of ascertaining the opinions of leading economists and publicists concerning the propriety of an adjustment of railway rates to the diminished value of the money in which they are paid. Phil., Railway World, Witherspoon Bldg., [1909.] 127 p. O. pap. (Add. pubs. for price.)

Derleth, C: The destructive extent of the California earthquake; its effect upon structures and structural material within the earthquake belt. San Francisco, A. M. Robertson, 1909. 132 p. il. 12°, cl., $1.25 net.

Education law, 1909. Albany, N. Y., New York State Education Department, 1909. 402 p. O. (N. Y. State Education Dept. bulletin.) pap. (Add. pubs. for price.)

Erwood, W: Jos. The living thought; being a book of essays. Elkhart, Ind., William J. Erwood Co., [1909.] c. 131 p. por. D. cl., $1.

By the author of "Chips from the rock of truth," "The conquest of self," etc. Much of the substance of this volume has been used by the author in lectures in many places. He aims to make people think of what they are, what they are doing, what their prevalent thoughts are, of whether they are truly progressing day by day to the best attainable in mental and emotional life.

Fisher, Irving. Economic aspect of lengthening human life: address delivered before the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, New York, Feb. 5, 1909. [New Haven, Ct., Committee of One Hundred on National Health, 69 Church St.,] 1909. 18 p. O. pap. (Add. pubs. for price.)

Author, of Yale University, is president of the Committee of One Hundred on National Health. The contents were printed as a supplement to the March issue of the American Health Magazine. The writer's report proves that human life in America could be lengthened by over one-third—that is fifteen years. The statistics and estimates on which this calculation is based have been taken from published sources, as well as contributed by some score of American authorities—medical, actuarial and hygienic. It is shown that the life insurance companies pay out almost a million a year for deaths from diseases which are preventable.

Fletcher, Rob. C: Leslie An introductory history of England. In 4 v. [v. 3.] From the Restoration to the beginning of the great war; [v. 4.] The great European war. N. Y., Dutton, 1909. 11+372; 8+351 p. fold. maps, plans, O. cl., ea., $1.50 net.

Frizell, W: Givens. Out of the way places; il. from photographs. Dayton, O., United Brethren Publishing House, 1909. 179 p. pls. 12°, $1.20 net.

Contents: Japan—dreamland; Religious Japan; China's capital; The Norwegian fjords;—Spitzbergen and the ice-pack; Through Norway; Across Sweden and Denmark; Scotch experiences; A literary pilgrimage; Irish odds and ends; A Moorish city; Seville; A bull fight; The Alhambra; Italian fragments.

Grey, Zane. The short-stop; il. by H. S. DeLay. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1909. c. 310 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The hero was earning $6 a week in a factory and supporting his mother and a lame brother. He asked for a raise of wages, was refused and left his place. He becomes a professional baseball player and makes a success of it. The author has been a professional player for many years and his book will fascinate young and old who delight in this most popular of American sports.

Gurley's manual of the principal instruments used in American engineering and surveying, manufactured by W. & L. E. Gurley. 43d ed. Troy, N. Y., W. & L. E. Gurley, 1909. c. 470 p. il. pors. S. cl., 50 c.

Hensel, Harry C. Knight of the twentieth century; letters from my friend the knight. Chic., Harry C. Hensel, 327 Dearborn St., [1909.] c. 124 p. O. bds., $1.

The "knight" weighs 270 pounds, stands six feet three, well built and has had athletic training. He had been a carpenter dreaming at his work over reed of a muscular Christianity that would go about the world punishing meanness and rewarding virtue. Falling heir to a small fortune his dream was made real. He writes on automobiles, coal mines, seeing ourselves as others see us, horse sense, losing a boss, a glance into the future, etc.

Hewitt, Mrs. Emma Churchman. How to live on a small income. Phil., George W. Jacobs & Co., [1909.] c. 208 p. S. cl., 50 c.

Practical advice on the details of housekeeping, always bearing in mind that before all things the housekeeper must make a happy home for husband and children and be a wife, helpmate and guarding mother, not a nervous, tired drudge. Shows how a family can be clothed and nourishingly fed and be of use in the community on a very small income.

Horner, Harlan Hoyt, comp. and ed. Hudson-Fulton celebration, Sept. 25 to Oct. 9, 1909: a brochure for the use of the schools of the state. Albany, N. Y., New York State Education Department, 1909. 63 p. il. pls. pors. facsim., fold. map, Q. pap. (Add. pubs. for price.)

Wednesday, September 29, will be the Educational day of the celebration. This brochure is gotten up to provide a means for school children to study up the history of the events to be celebrated. Contains portraits, signatures and many illustrations of historic spots along the Hudson River. Bibliography (5 p.).

Huckel, Rev. Oliver. Mental medicine; some practical suggestions from a spiritual standpoint; five conferences with students at the Johns Hopkins Medical School; with an introd. by Lewellys F. Barker, M.D. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1909.] c. 32+219 p. D. cl., **$1 net.

Author is pastor of the Associate Congregational Church, Baltimore. The basis of the book is a series of lectures delivered before the Johns Hopkins Medical School. Dr. Barker, of the Johns Hopkins faculty, shows the close harmony which should exist between religion and medicine. Dr. Huckel has outlined the essentials of a wise co-operation between the two professions in their mutual care of the sick. He discusses Christian Science and the Emmanuel Movement and points out the strength and the weaknesses of each. An untechnical discussion on an important timely subject.

Hugo, Victor. Ruy Blas; with an introd. and notes by Kenneth McKenzie. N. Y., Henry Holt & Co., 1909. c. 27+223 p. por. S. cl., 65 c.

Lawrence, R: Hoe, comp. Catalogue of the engravings issued by the Society of Icon-

ophiles of the City of New York, MDCCCXCIV-MCMVIII; with an introd. by W. Loring Andrews. N. Y., [Richard Hoe Lawrence, 15 Wall St.,] 1908, [1909.] 87 p. il. 4°. (Priv. pr.)

Of this book 125 copies have been printed on special O. W. hand-made paper, and 12 copies on imperial Japan paper. Autobiography of Edwin Davis French, written for the Society of Ironophiles in 1901" (9 p.).

Lowe, C. The prince's pranks. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1909. 7+314 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The story is supposed to relate events which took place when old Emperor Wilhelm I. was still on the German throne and Wilhelm II. was still a very young man full of fun and love of adventure. He is the "prince" of the tale and his "pranks" take place chiefly in England, where he had been sent to assist at the Jubilee of his grandmother, Queen Victoria. A specially important Queen's messenger falls in with the prince, trusts him with dispatches and from this circumstance starts the plot.

Luther, Martin. [Sermons;] tr. with the help of others by Prof. J. N. Lenker; Luther's Epistle sermons, v. 3, Trinity Sunday to Advent. Minneapolis, Minn., Luther Press, 1909. c. 384 p. O. (Christian educational ser.) cl., $1.65.

The third volume of the Epistle sermons, forming the ninth volume of the Complete Luther that this house is publishing.

MacArthur, Rob. Stuart. The Christic reign, and other sermons. Phil., American Baptist Public Society, [1909.] c. '08. 273 p. O. cl. (Add. pubs. for price.)

Twenty sermons, almost all recently preached in Calvary Baptist Church, New York City, by the man who has ministered to that congregation for nearly forty years. Dr. MacArthur always preaches a living religion and a spiritual, intellectual and loving faith in Christ. He says these sermons caused quite a helpful awakening among his people.

Meadon, Jos., ed. The graphic arts and crafts year book: the American annual review of the engraving, printing and allied industries. 3d year. N. Y., Oswald Publishing Co., 25 City Hall Pl., 1909. 400 p. il. 8°, cl., $5.

Metcalf, Ja. Stetson. The diary of a district messenger; by the author of Another three weeks. N. Y., Life Publishing Co., 1909. c. no paging, S. pap., 25 c.

Dated day by day and extending over a month the diary records a vast amount of juvenile devilry. The telephone has almost crowded out the district messenger, but many of us still remember these precocious young rascals who spent most of their time getting nowhere.

Montgomery, C. Alexander. Ye Club heralds to ye worlde; discoveries which "prove" authoritatively, ye "secret parentage" of ye works of "Shake-speare." I, Ye prefatorie verse in ye first folio, 1623; II, Ye verse to ye memorie of W. Shaxpere; III, Ye "Latine" inscription on ye monument, 1616-1623; IV, Ye English inscription on ye monument, 1616-1623; V, Ye "epitaph" on ye tombstone, 1616; fully il. with photographic reproductions. N. Y., Charles Alexander Montgomery, P. O. Box 888, 1909. F. in portfolio, $1.

In very handsome shape the De Vinne Press has printed for the author five well known texts of the First Folio Shakespeare, which he has now satisfied himself are anagrams and which he has deciphered to make complete sense, using in every case every letter and punctuation mark of the text printed in the Folio. In a purely accidental way Mr. Mont-gomery's eye hit upon two or three words that could be thus transposed. With great perseverance he followed out his ingenious inspiration, and he also now thinks it proved that Francis Bacon wrote the plays. Gives portrait of Bacon and reproductions of the pages quoted from First folio of the inscription on the tombstone and of the portrait of Francis Bacon. Whether of permanent value in the course of years or not Mr. Montgomery's work is very clever and deserves close study.

Panton, Mrs. J. E. Fresh leaves and green pastures. N. Y., Brentano's, 1909. O. cl., *$3.50 net.

The author of "Leaves from a life" gives in this continuation of her literary recollections of the past 50 years what amounts to a description of English country life in the mid-Victorian days. She lived in Thomas Hardy's surroundings, but while Hardy deals with the peasantry she deals with the leisured classes. She has known all the interesting people of her day, she is outspoken and has good sense of fun and her recollections introduce scenes and characters that live.

Pennington, Jane Gillespie, ed. Be strong. N. Y., Dodge Publishing Co., 1909. c. 32°, (Don't fret ser.) 50 c.

Pickering, W. H. A search for a planet beyond Neptune. Cambridge, Mass., Harvard University, 1909. 4°, (Annals of Astronomical Observatory of Harvard University.) pap. (Add. University for price.)

Public school libraries; 500 books and how to buy them. Ypsilanti, Mich., [State Normal College,] 1908, [1909.] 25 p. Q. (Michigan Normal College bull.) pap., gratis.

Blank pages at end for lists of "books that should be added to the school library," "books for my private library," "books I wish to read," "books I have read (1908)."

Racine, Jean Baptiste. Andromaque; ed., with an introd., remarks and notes, by F. M. Warren. N. Y., Henry Holt & Co., 1909. c. '03. 20+104 p. S. cl., 35 c.

Revell, Ellen Isabel, comp. Memorial day exercises for the school-room. Bost., Educational Publishing Co., [1909.] c. 72 p. D. (Teachers' help ser.) pap., 25 c.

Rozant, Ina. Life's understudies. N. Y., Mitchell Kennerly, [1909.] 322 p. O. cl., $1.50.

The author of "An actress's pilgrimage" here offers another tale of the stage and its vicissitudes and hard work, especially when in rural communities. The special heroine has been for many years an "understudy," as has her husband also. Their matrimonial life is broken up by the husband becoming insane. When he recovers he finds his wife has let her child and all the world believe he was dead. For her happiness he goes out of her life leaving her to the man she had loved before she joined her fate with his.

Schmalz, J. Barnes. Nuggets from King Solomon's Mine. [Bost., Schmalz Publication Co., 31 Ames Bldg.,] [1909.] c. '08. 141 p. pls. diagrs., 12°, cl., $2.

The main interest centers about the recent discovery, by the author, that the playing cards (the modern pack, in general use throughout Europe and America) contain a record of the Great Pyramid—the oldest and most mysterious monument of intellectual man. The evidence upon which the author bases his claim seems trustworthy.

Scott, Sir Walter. Ivanhoe: a romance; with an introd. and notes by M. A. Eaton. Bost., Educational Publishing Co., [1909.] c. '08. 607 p. por. D. cl., 50 c.

Shakespeare, W. The Merchant of Venice; with an introd. and notes by Margaret A. Eaton. Bost., Educational Publishing Co., [1909.] c. 154 p. il. S. cl., 25 c.

Shaw, Jos. Thompson. Spain of to-day; a narrative guide to the country of the Dons; with suggestions for travellers. N. Y., Grafton Press, [1909.] c. 156 p. il. map, O. cl., **$1.25 net.

Compiled from memoranda written each evening after the author had returned from a day of exploration and sightseeing. Just returned from an extended tour throughout the principal Spanish cities, he has written a breezy account of all he saw. He had an exceptional courier and was shown many things which do not come to the attention of the ordinary traveller. In the part devoted to "Suggestions for travellers" are valuable hints to hotels, trains, money and other important details of getting about. The illustrations are characteristic.

Smith, Edwin Burritt. Essays and addresses. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1909. c. 35+ 376 p. por. 8°, cl., **$2.50 net.

Edwin Burritt Smith was one of the ablest lawyers and best citizens of Chicago. The work has been prepared as a memorial to the man and as a permanent part of the history of Chicago. The book contains the ripest ideas of a man whose leading thought was the public good, who really died from overwork in his efforts to bring about a clean municipal administration. Every city may learn as well as Chicago.

Street, Arthur Irwin, ed. and comp. Street's Pandex of the news; a cumulative index and digest of the newspapers of the United States; [monthly.] Chic., Pandex Co., [30 E. 53d St.,] 1909. c. f°, per year, $10.

Strong, A. Hopkins, D.D. Systematic theology: a compendium and commonplace book; designed for the use of theological students. In 3 v. v. 3, The doctrine of salvation. Phil., American Baptist Publication Society, 1909. 777-1166 p. 8°, cl., **$2.50 net.

Swift, Ivan. Fagots of cedar: Out of the North and Blown by the winds and Ashes and embers; with titles old and new not contained in the original limited ed. Clintonville, Mich., Willows Shop, 1909. c. no paging, front. O. hf. cl., $1.25; hf. leath., $2.

The first limited edition was published by the author in 1907. Most of the poems have appeared in the better magazines and periodicals. This edition has been written, illustrated, printed, sewed and bound by the author himself. It can be had in Indian red plain boards, and also there are 100 copies in the same color half leather. The poet is a genuine nature lover with a soul untrammelled by the restraints of convention. There is a wildness in his songs of the deep woods and wild waters. Edward Markham says they have "the crash of the trees and the snort of the horses in them."

Wenzlaff, Gustav Gottlieb. The mental man: an outline of the fundamentals of psychology. N. Y., Charles E. Merrill Co., [1909.] c. 272 p. D. cl., $1.10.

Author is president of the State Normal School, Springfield, So. Dakota. This is a text-book primarily intended for use in schools and colleges written from the point of view of a student and close observer of the human mind in its various states and workings. All statements of psychological and physiological fact in the several departments of the book have been carefully examined and approved by specialists whose opinions are authoritative.

Whittier, J. Greenleaf. Snow-bound; songs of labor, and other poems; with an introd. and notes by E. Isabel Revell. Bost., Educational Publishing Co., [1909.] c. 142 p. S. (Classic lib.) pap., 15 c.

York, Harlan H. *The anatomy and some of the biological aspects of the "American mistletoe," phoradendron flavescens (Pursh) Nutt.* Austin, Tex., University of Texas, 1909. 31 p. pls. O. (University of Texas bull.) pap., 50 c.

There are eleven species of mistletoe found in North America. Five occur only within the state of Texas. The special plant under discussion is distributed over the state as far West as Eagle Pass. Though distinctly southern in its range it is also found as far North as Southern New Jersey, Maryland, Ohio, Indiana and Missouri. The author is instructor in botany at the University of Texas. There are 14 full pages of illustrations.

AN ENGLISH VIEW OF THE DECLINE OF THE HIGH-PRICED NOVEL.

WHENEVER thus far the cause of the lack of interest in the modern work of fiction has come up for discussion, the question was generally debated much in the manner as a cat attacks a pot of boiling broth—that is, by walking around and around it, but never getting at the meat in the pot. Hence, those interested got about as little information out of the discussion of the question as the cat was likely to get broth out of the red-hot pot. It is therefore gratifying to have the illuminating contribution as to the causes of the decline of one of his wares which William Heinemann, the well-known, alert and enterprising English publisher, presented at the dinner of the Associated Booksellers of Great Britain and Ireland, given on June 22, in London—a frank presentation of the subject that is well worthy of consideration by those interested in this branch of the publishing business.

Mr. Heinemann attributes the growing indifference of the public to the six shilling novel to three causes, the first of which is the only too obvious one of over-production; the second is the production of worthless books, and the third is that books have been artificially spun out to bulk within covers at six shillings which contain in reality little more reading matter than the old-fashioned one shilling book contained. The objection that quantity is not a criterion of literature was anticipated by Mr. Heinemann with the assertion that the reader who pays 4s. 6d. for a book and expects five or six evenings' entertainment from it, feels cheated if he gets through that book in a couple of hours. As Mr. Heinemann forcibly says, there is in the whole range of commerce no other commodity for which the public is asked to pay indiscriminately one price, whether it be a pound or an ounce that is offered.

Quality, also, is as often ignored as quantity in the fixing of the price of a novel. The ripe work of experience, as Mr. Heinemann points out, brings in the shape of a novel no more money than the slipshod writing of young ladies and gentlemen who can afford to spend £50 or £100 on the production of a few hundred copies of their foolish vaporings. Out of this indifference to quantity and quality in the publication of novels has grown a habit in the retail trade of distinguishing too little between what is worth selling and pushing and what had better be left unrecommended. A novel in many retailers' hands is simply a novel, and if the terms on one good and worthy book are slightly less advantageous than they are on an inferior one, some booksellers are shortsighted enough to recommend the inferior book over the better one. While this is not cited as a general practice, it must not be overlooked that the sale of every bad and unworthy book is a nail in the coffin of the high-priced novel as a class.

We quote Mr. Heinemann's concluding remarks in full as follows:

"It is said that, whereas in the past 25 per cent. of all 6s. novels published were sold to the circulating libraries and 75 per cent. through the booksellers, to-day the ratio is reversed, 75 per cent. going to the circulating libraries and 25 per cent. to the booksellers. I am not able to say that this calculation is a correct one, but there can be no doubt that the enormous increase of circulating libraries has had considerable effect on the sale of 6s. novels—tempting the public even more than in the old days to borrow rather than to buy novels.

"I consider that this tendency has grown beyond reasonable limits; and this is so because the public has become distrustful of a price that is fictitiously fixed and arbitrarily adapted to special and local conditions; distrustful of the article provided; distrustful because the quality is often disappointing; distrustful because the quantity has sometimes been dishonestly small; distrustful because re-issue at a very cheap price was threatened at so early a period that many buyers prefer to wait until the book is available at not many more pence than the shillings asked for it on first publication.

"It is my belief that if the novel in England is to be put on a sound business basis again, and if we wish to revert to the old proportion of 25 per cent. to the libraries and 75 per cent. to the booksellers, its publication must be more economically honest than it is at present. I do not wish to take away from the sales to circulating libraries—in fact, I'd increase them, if I could, tenfold—but I wish so to increase the sales to and through the booksellers that their share represents in the end 75 per cent. of the total sales.

"I feel that a change in the nature I have indicated has become imperative. What precisely is it to be? I believe that the most likely steps towards the accomplishment of this end are the adoption of a net price for novels; a differentiation in the price of long and short novels, and, most of all, a close co-operation between authors, publishers and booksellers to see that in quantity as well as in quality the books offered to the public represent value for money. Whether the change will require temporary sacrifice is a matter which experience alone can show, but, even if it does, I feel convinced that good will be reaped in the end. I plead for an honest article at an honest price. What this price should be is a matter which cannot be defined at such a time and place. I know that there are some who advocate raising the price on first publication—a circulating library edition to be followed by a bookshop edition—but the general tendency of the day lies towards cheapening everything—books included. Probably there is no other course open to us than to reduce the price of novels and to hope for increased sales.

"What I feel strongly is that if the changes made are in the right direction, if we can re-establish confidence among the public, then, gentlemen, and then alone, can we look forward to a great uplifting in the book-selling world, which will be an advantage to readers, to authors, publishers and booksellers alike."

It is stimulating to hear these home truths, and we hope that they will receive due attention from all who are concerned in the making and selling of novels on both sides of the Atlantic.

WITH unrefreshing frequency the daily papers bring news of the fleecing of this or that unsuspecting bookbuyer by some wide-awake subscription book canvasser whose ideas of fair dealing are circular rather than square. And every time such a case as the one reported elsewhere in this issue is thrust upon the attention of the public we have twinges, not so much of conscience as of chagrin, that the bookseller is so blind to his own interests as to permit these parasites to blacken his reputation for enterprise and to make it increasingly impossible to hold his own in this profitable field of the trade. When will the bookseller awake to the possibilities of special bookselling—a line in which some booksellers in the past grew very nearly "rich beyond the dreams of avarice"—such, for example, as the late Henry Miller, of New York City, and others who are still assiduously working this field with great profit to themselves.

DURABILITY AND ECONOMY IN PAPERS FOR PERMANENT RECORDS.

THE Government Printing Office has just brought out as Report No. 89 of the U. S. Department of Agriculture a report submitted by H. W. Wiley, chief of Bureau of Chemistry, and C. Hart Merriam, chief of Bureau of Biological Survey, Committee on Paper for Departmental Use, to which F. P. Veitch, chief of the Leather and Paper Laboratory, Bureau of Chemistry, from which we quote the introductory, referring our readers to the report itself for information or specifications, testing, etc.:

The quality of paper is controlled by the raw materials from which it is made and by the methods used in making it. The strongest and most durable paper is made of first-class materials, such as the best grades of cotton, linen, and hemp rags and spinning wastes, which are prepared and made into paper by the methods which experience has shown most largely maintains the strength and pliability of the raw materials and renders them least liable to subsequent deterioration. Paper of lower quality is made from rags of inferior grades, from bleached chemical wood, straw, and other raw material, or from mixtures in any proportion of two or more of these. Paper made either of good or of poor materials is weakened and thus rendered less durable by acids, by the addition to it during manufacture of mineral fillers, by large amounts of sizing materials, and by rapid drying at high temperatures. The filler is added to increase the weight, to improve the printing quality, and to increase opacity; the sizing is added to prevent the spreading of ink, and the acid is formed while the paper is being made and is often not completely washed out.

The kind of raw material or stock in paper can be determined, but the quality of this raw material cannot, except as it imparts certain general qualities, such as great strength, pliability, and resistance to chemicals, to the paper made therefrom.

Weight and bulk are properties which should not be neglected in the consideration of suitable papers. The general statement may be made that paper should be no heavier nor more bulky than necessary. Libraries and the public are relieved of the inconveniences and expense of handling and shelving useless material, transportation charges are reduced, and raw materials are conserved.

The cost of paper could be considerably lessened by employing better, lighter, and thinner paper, and storage space could be reduced from 10 to 50 per cent. The maximum of each desirable characteristic which a given paper should possess cannot be secured. Thus, a paper cannot have the maximum strength, durability, opaqueness and the minimum weight and bulk. If great strength and durability are desired, opaqueness must be largely sacrificed, as the strongest and most durable papers are relatively transparent and thin. If great opacity is required, strength, durability, lightness, and thinness must all be sacrificed to a certain extent. The characteristics of any paper are therefore the results of a compromise among opposing qualities, and the nature of this compromise is predetermined by the purpose for which the paper is to be employed.

It should also be noted in this connection that, with equal care in printing, as fine presswork cannot usually be done on light, thin paper as on thick, heavy paper. For this reason the latter is often preferred by publishers. The papers for which detailed specifications are given herein are not proposed for those cases in which the very best presswork, at the lowest cost and with the least effort, is the important or controlling factor. These facts only further emphasize the necessity of considering the nature of the publication and the purposes for which it is issued in determining the character, quality, and weight of the paper to be used. While the lighter papers described in this report will not, therefore, be suitable for limited editions in which the finest presswork is desired, they will give good results as to presswork with a maximum of durability and economy, and are therefore pre-eminently suited for the great majority of the government bulletins which are issued in large editions and for those which should form permanent records. It must be remembered in using the data here given that the fundamental purpose of this investigation was to provide suitable papers for government use, durability and economy being the main consideration, to which appearance has been in part subordinated.

Surface and color are important properties of printing and writing papers. Highly polished and very white papers are decidedly injurious to the eyesight and when looked at continuously for long periods often produce headache. For these reasons, as well as others, coated, supercalendered, and very white papers should not be used when they can be avoided. Rough surface and papers of a creamy color are far less harmful.

Applying these facts to papers for departmental use the committee makes the following recommendations:

Those departmental publications which are distributed to the public should be printed on paper made from bleached chemical wood or its equivalent. This paper should be as light and thin as is compatible with sufficient strength and opacity, and its surface and color should not be injurious to eyesight. For bulletins and circulars of all kinds a paper weighing 40 pounds per ream 25 by 38 is sufficiently heavy, while for large volumes containing 600 or more pages somewhat thinner and lighter paper should be used. Fourth-grade printing paper according to the specifications on page 35 is recommended for this purpose.

A small edition of each publication, or certainly of those of scientific value, should be printed on high-grade paper for distribution as permanent records to public and institution libraries. This paper should consist of at least 75 per cent. rag stock, should be strong and thoroughly well made to withstand much handling. For such use second-grade printing paper according to the specifications on page 33 is recommended. Papers of the weight stated above may be used. When half-tone illustrations are not used in the text the surface should be what is known as "machine finish" and the color "natural."

Coated paper for half-tone illustrations should be used only when absolutely necessary. No other kind of paper is now known upon which half tones showing a great amount of detail can be printed as successfully as upon coated papers. The low quality of these papers, their great weight, the fact that if they get damp they are certain to stick together and thus be ruined, and the great cost and difficulty of successfully binding them into a volume constitute ample grounds for largely discarding these papers in departmental papers, even though as effective illustrations cannot be secured with other papers. For the illustrated portions of non-durable publications a well supercalendered paper, suitable for both the illustrations and the text, is recommended, on the score of both economy and durability. A paper of this kind is more durable than the ordinary coated book. Half-tone screens containing as many as 120 lines per inch may be used on a well supercalendered paper.

For permanent publications a loaded and supercalendered paper containing 75 per cent. of rag stock, or an unloaded, plated, or supercalendered paper containing 75 per cent. of rag stock is recommended. On the former illustrations made with a 150-mesh screen may be employed and on the latter those made with a 130-mesh screen.

Experiments are now being made in the Bureau of Chemistry to determine more definitely what mesh screen can be most advantageously employed on various papers. In those cases where it is essential to bring out the minute details of illustrations coated papers must be employed. But unless the cuts are printed on both sides of the paper it should be coated on but one side, and should rarely be heavier than 75 pounds per ream 24 by 36.

The report should find a place in the working library of every manufacturer of books.

THE CHICAGO BOOK FAIR.

THE representatives of the publishing trade, on July 5, opened up their annual exhibition of books in the Palmer House for the accommodation of the bookbuyers in the central market of the United States. At these gatherings representatives from department stores, book stores and libraries are sent with commissions from their firms to select the book stock for the fall season.

The fair is arranged on the second floor of the hotel, the corridor being devoted to displays of samples, while the rooms abutting on the corridors are devoted to headquarters of the firms represented at the show.

The displays are as varied as they are numerous, books being shown from the primers used in the country school to editions de luxe of the latest and most popular works of fiction.

On July 9 nearly every one present at the Fair joined in the outing at the Hinsdale Golf Club.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ENGLISH BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE annual meeting of the Associated Booksellers of Great Britain and Ireland was held June 18 to 22 at Stationers' Hall, London. There were present about three hundred members and their guests. At the business meeting, H. W. Keay, president of the association, in the chair, the council reported that the net system steadily asserts itself and that the number of signatories to the net book agreement is continually increasing. The following schedule will show the steady progress of the net system.

	Subject Books	Total Pub. Price	NET	Total Pub. Price
1901...	5675	1211 8 7	2322	983 3 4
1902...	6091	1239 10 11½	3050	1247 15 10½
1903...	5198	951 6 10½	3581	1567 11 3
1904...	5382	994 5 11	4303	1550 19 5
1905...	5621	847 18 6½	4617	1480 12 8
1906...	5843	814 2 1	5136	1646 18 7
1907...	4926	872 17 5½	5426	1643 14 0
1908...	4215	791 0 7	5658	1718 4 10

The council's good offices have in a few cases been devoted to preventing the offering of net books at a discount. It is a source of satisfaction to report that these cases are very few, and it has generally been found that the trouble has arisen more from want of thought than from any direct intention to evade the net book regulations.

The council also reported the ending of the so-called book war, the Times Book Club having accepted the rules of the net book agreement. The Associated Booksellers have accepted the settlement. With this exception the past year has been singularly free from any burning question. The attempt by the Library Association to force the hands of the publishers as to the supply of net books at a discount signally failed. The election of officers resulted in the choice of Henry Keay as president; F. Hansen and F. Denny, vice-presidents; Edwin Pearce, hon. secretary; F. Calder Turner, hon. treasurer.

The dinner given at the Hotel Cecil on June 19, was attended by nearly all those present at the conversazione at Stationers' Hall, and many were attended by their wives and daughters. The speaking, as reported, was good, as may be judged from the remarks by William Heinemann, which we quote in part elsewhere in this issue.

THE BOOKTRADE AT THE ALASKA-YUKON EXPOSITION.

THE Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, which opened on June 1 at Seattle, Washington, has not as yet attracted many firms in the booktrade. Among the firms that have opened up exhibits in the Manufacturers' Building are:

Dodd, Mead & Co., in charge of E. T. Taylor.

Laird & Lee, represented by Thomas Griffin.

G. & C. Merriam, represented by F. C. Sykes.

A number of manufacturing stationers are represented with fine displays of their goods.

THE BOSTON BRANCH OF AMERICAN BAPTIST PUB. SOC. TO REMOVE.

THE Boston branch of the American Baptist Publication Society will move into new quarters about July 20. The selection of a new location was by no means an easy one, all points considered. Dr. C. H. Spalding, the district secretary, and H. V. Meyer, the business manager, consulted frequently with the leaders, ministers and laymen alike, in denominational work, before it was decided to accept the property at No. 16 Ashburton Place, directly opposite the Ford Building, and within a short distance of Park Street subway and Scollay Square, besides being in the heart of other denominational interests. There will be a modern first-floor store, well lighted and well arranged, with attractive shelving and inviting counters for special display purposes for the book lover to browse to heart's content in this realm of books. In the rear of the store will be the offices of the district secretary and the manager, who will always be glad to greet personally any of their friends. A rear balcony will be used for the offices, including the accounting department, the periodical subscription department, etc., while a side balcony will be used for an up-to-date Sunday-school room, where workable material can always be found for Sunday-school workers. A table supplied with stationery and with chairs for committee meetings will be available for any visitors without charge. A spacious basement will be used for shipping and stock room purposes.

R. K. SMITH OF McCLURG'S RETIRES.

The following communications tell their own story:

CHICAGO, ILL., July 2, 1909.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: We have just received from our New York representative, R. K. Smith, the following letter, resigning his position with us. Mr. Smith has made so good a record with us that we are sorry to lose him; but his resignation has been accepted to take effect some time before the 1st of August. We are sure all his friends in the trade will wish him well for the future, as we do.

Messrs. A. C. McClurg & Co.

DEAR SIR: With great regret I am tendering to you my resignation as your Eastern representative. My regret is more keen when I reflect that I have been associated with the house for nearly forty years, and I had expected to round out the four decades; but I am reaching a point where I want a little more leisure and for this reason I wish to resign the responsibilities of my position. I shall be glad to have the resignation take effect as soon after date as may be convenient for you, and with all good wishes for the house, I am,

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) R. K. SMITH.

We presume you will wish to make note of the change. A. C. McCLURG & Co.

[Mr. Smith is a native of Albany, N. Y., where he was born in 1849. As noted in our issue of February 27, 1909, he began his business career in 1863 in the bookstore of S. R. Gray, of Albany, leaving him in 1868 to take a position in the Western News Company in Chicago. In 1873 Mr. Smith went over to Jansen, McClurg & Co., and in 1886 he became buyer for A. C. McClurg & Co. Since 1906 Mr. Smith has been in charge of the Eastern office of A. C. McClurg & Co. "Dick" Smith, as he has been affectionately hailed by hundreds of friends and acquaintances whom he has won by his gentle and courteous manner, and through his eminent fairness in every position he has held, will be followed into retirement, after thirty-six years of efficient and useful service, by the heartiest good wishes of all with whom he has come into touch.—Ed. P. W.]

QUIMBY SUIT AGAINST MRS. DICKINSON DISMISSED.

THE latest evidence that book-lovers are willing enough to invest in books, however absurd the price may be, is the case of Mrs. Mary Low Dickinson, the author and founder of the International Order of the King's Daughters, who agreed to buy from the Quimby Publishing Co., of Boston, or their successors, a de luxe edition of Paul de Kock's works in fifty volumes, limited to fifty copies. The edition was to be "printed with new twelve-point Caslon type" on "genuine deckle-edge, antique wove, hand-made paper." It was also to contain "50 original water colors," "50 original pen and ink sketches," and "300 etchings and photogravures."

What appealed to Mrs. Dickinson particularly, however, was that, according to the circular of the publisher, "each subscriber would receive a monogram made from an original design cut from steel and inlaid in gold on the silk fly-leaf."

According to Mrs. Dickinson's affidavit, the book agent "agreed to repurchase the books within a stipulated period or to resell them at a profit of $500. Mrs. Dickinson was given to understand that there was a woman in West Virginia who would ultimately rebuy the books from her," said her lawyer. Needless to say the West Virginia woman never materialized.

The book concern which sued her did not admit ever having broached any such attractive plan. At any rate, Mrs. Dickinson signed a contract for a $2500 Passy edition, and subsequent calls of the agent caused her to change her $2500 Passy edition contract for a $7500 Romainville edition of the same author's works. She gave notes for that sum for it. According to her lawyer, she hoped that the "West Virginia woman" was going to materialize and buy the books from her at an increased price before the notes fell due. The book concern, in time, put her notes in circulation. No "West Virginia woman" having materialized, Mrs. Dickinson refused to pay the notes when they were presented to her. So the book firm assigned their claim, and suit was brought against Mrs. Dickinson for $7500 and interest.

Mrs. Dickinson, who is seventy years old and in poor health, did not appear in court last March when the suit first came up. Judgment for over $10,000 was returned against her. When the facts were later explained to Justice Guy he said that the venerable writer and philanthropist was "at least entitled to her day in court." He set aside the judgment, and the case was argued again before Justice O'Gorman on June 21.

When the complaint came up in the Supreme Court on June 21 Judge O'Gorman dismissed it. The deposition of Harry L. Chapman, president of the book concern, and the cross-examination of Melvin H. Dalberg, counsel for Mrs. Dickinson, which took place on June 16, was first introduced as evidence. Mr. Chapman admitted that the books about which the suit had been waged were not ready for delivery at the specified time, and he could produce only one volume in court.

Defendant's lawyer made a motion to dismiss the complaint on the ground that the complainant was unable to prove that the books were ever tendered to the defendant or that they were ever able to deliver the same according to contract.

Justice O'Gorman granted the motion. This action finally disposes of the case.

VOLTAIRE'S WORKS WHITEWASHED.

VOLTAIRE's works were the subject of a decision handed down on June 30 by Justice Seabury, sitting in the Appellate Term of the Supreme Court, New York. Peter J. Quinn signed a contract with the St. Hubert Guild to supply him with a set of Voltaire, for which he was to pay $200. At the time he signed the contract, Quinn says, he was assured that the books made very fine reading, and were fit for any one. Instead of this being the case, Quinn says that he found the books contained "reading of a character not fit to be read in his family."

Consequently, he refused to pay for them. The St. Hubert Guild brought suit in the Ninth District Municipal Court, which was decided in Quinn's favor. An appeal was taken, and in reversing the judgment, Justice Seabury, with the concurrence of Justices Gildersleeve and Giegerich, holds that it is no part of the duty of courts to exercise a censorship over literary productions.

Justice Seabury, in his decision, remarks that the judgment of the lower court is not the first occasion on which "The Philosophical Dictionary" has been condemned by the judiciary, the last occasion being, so far as he knew, in 1766, in France, when a youth in whose possession a copy of the work was found was publicly burned in the streets of Paris.

In holding that the contract was a valid one, Justice Seabury says, in conclusion:

The object of the law which prohibits the sale or publication of immoral literature is to prevent the circulation of literature which is hurtful to the community. To apply this rule so as to prohibit the sale or publication of the works of Voltaire would not give effect to its purpose. Differ as men may as to the views of Voltaire on many questions, none can deny the great influence of his work in promoting justice and humanity and the reign of reason in public affairs.

A new trial was ordered.

COLLIER'S PAID FOR COMPILING
5-FOOT LIBRARY.

PRESIDENT EMERITUS CHARLES W. ELIOT of Harvard, on the evening of July 1, said of his 5-foot library of best books that he was paid by P. F. Collier & Son of New York for picking out the list. Every Harvard graduate was surprised after the commencement on June 30 to receive an announcement from the New York publishers of the books in "Harvard crimson" binding. Dr. Eliot, when seen by a New York Times reporter, said:

"The list of books as mentioned is very incomplete. I expect when the task is finished to issue twenty more titles. I will try to confine the list to sixty books. When the publishers asked me to select the books for a proposition of this kind I was glad to do it, because I felt if my name as compiler of the list induced people to read the books a great educational work would have been done. My position in this matter is thoroughly understood by all who know me.

"I do not consider that my course in acting as editor could be considered as lending my name or what prestige I might have for advertising purposes, as has been insinuated. It is a strict business proposition, and, naturally, the publisher will advertise largely.

"The Bible and Shakespeare were omitted from the list at the suggestion of the publisher. The reason, of course, is that most people have read the Bible and Shakespeare. The list was originally intended to be a fifty-book list. Now, any good edition of Shakespeare would take five volumes. The Bible would take three volumes, and there will be eight gone out of the fifty."

Dr. Eliot's explanations reminds us of the story of the advice given to Judge Daly by his father-in-law: "My son, never explain your decisions, because your decisions may be right but your explanations are bound to be wrong."

POISON LABEL ON BOOKS.

CHARLES F. LUMMIS of the Public Library, Los Angeles, Cal., has been sounding the principal librarians of the country, suggesting the advisability of adopting a uniform conservative plan for an evaluation of text books, so as to indicate to readers such as are authoritative and such as are misleading or valueless as works of reference. As a rule the replies received by Mr. Lummis have been of a nature favorable to a "plating system," containing a form of warning or cross reference—not saying, "This book is a fraud," but some such phraseology as, "There are more reliable books on this subject; consult, for instance, ———." In his general letter Mr. Lummis writes: "Every drug store has to keep poisons, but is obliged to safeguard their going out. It is a general law that a death head and cross bones must adorn the label of violent drugs. Every large library is obliged to possess thousands of books which should be under similar restrictions.

... Many of these are active poisons, as every critic knows. They must be kept on tap; but they should not go out to minors without the poison label." Mr. Lummis cites a few specimens. Some works of Egyptology, "which are simply creating and perpetuating superstition," and specifically, "the 'history' of Mexico and Peru by Prescott—delightful but deluding."—N. Y. Times Review of Books.

[But who is to determine what is poison and what is meat? A dozen or a hundred men might be as much at fault in determining this as easily as one man might be.—ED. P. W.]

COMMUNICATIONS.

ON THE DUPLICATING OF TITLES.

CHICAGO, ILL., July 2, 1909.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: We have lately had occasion to write to several of our friends in the trade protesting at the appropriation of titles of well-known books on our list. It seems curious that, with all the discussion of copyright matters, this evil has not been taken note of, and it would seem desirable for the various publishers to take the matter up in some way looking to a reform. It is bad enough to have a title of an American book appropriated by an English house, but to have it taken by another publisher here, if done knowingly, is an impertinence and morally wrong, and if done unknowingly, it at least results in great confusion in the trade. For example, in our own jobbing department orders calling for titles similar to titles on our own list are almost certain to be filled by our order boys with our own books. The particular titles of ours that have been recently appropriated are "Mental Medicine," Crowell (our title, "The Law of Mental Medicine," Hudson's well-known book, published 1903;) Hall Caine's "The White Christ," Appleton, (our title, "For the White Christ," Robert Ames Bennet's story, published 1905;) "Marching with Morgan," Page, (our title, "Raiding with Morgan," "The Young Kentuckians Series," published 1903;) "The Goose Girl," Bobbs-Merrill, (our title, "The Goose Girl," by Lucy Fitch Perkins, published 1906;) "Health and Happiness," American Baptist Publication Society, and "Health, Strength and Happiness," Mitchell Kennerley, (our title, "Health and Happiness," by Bishop Samuel Fallows, published 1909.) This seems rather too large an appropriation from one publisher's list.

Yours very truly,

A. C. McCLURG &amp; Co.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

"In recognition of the literary eminence of their grandfather, and in consideration of their straitened circumstances," is the reason given in a White Paper issued July 2 for the granting of a civil list pension of $2.50 a week to each of the four granddaughters of the late Charles Dickens. The recipients are Mary Angela Dickens and her three sisters.

THE London correspondent of the New York Times writes that when the recently announced royal birthday honors were being arranged, the author of "Peter Pan" was set down for a knighthood. Barrie, who is a friend of Kipling's, might aptly have quoted the latter's ballad about the man "who wouldn't have them make a knight of me," but he merely declined the proffered honor politely but firmly. "I don't go in for that sort of thing," was the way in which he dismissed the matter.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Offices of the Illinois Book Exchange, of which H. Zadek is manager, are in the Lakeside Building on Fifty-fifth Street, not Fifty-first Street.

CINCINNATI, O.—Jay F. Laning having failed to reorganize the firm of Robert Clarke Company, the court has made an order authorizing the receiver to advertise for sealed bids for the Robert Clarke Co. business as a going concern. The business is to be advertised in five different departments: (1), the stationery department; (2), all law publications, law books, plates and sheet stock; (3), miscellaneous books not the publications of the Robert Clarke Co.; (4), miscellaneous books other than law books published by the Robert Clarke Co. with plates and sheet stock belonging to the same; (5), all store fixtures, furniture, office furniture, store supplies, etc. The receiver is to prepare a list of articles in each of these departments by July 26, advertise the sale thoroughly in all trade journals, and by circulars, that sealed bids will be received for any or all of these departments and opened by the court on July 26. The understanding is that if the bids are satisfactory to creditors they will be accepted; if not, the court will reject them and will proceed to a public auction.

DENVER, COLO.—The Kendrick-Bellamy Stationery Co. has succeeded to the business of The Kendrick Book and Stationery Company. The personnel of the company remains the same as before. C. A. Kendrick is president and H. E. Bellamy vice-president.

DEPOSIT, N. Y.—Judge Ray has given the Outing Publishing Company receivers permission to sell The Bohemian Magazine to Theodore Dresser, of New York, for $1000, after the August number has been published. He also has made an order, returnable on July 13, to show cause why the Outing Company's plant should not be closed after the issue of the August Bohemian. It is said that the plant will probably be sold at auction.

DES MOINES, Ia.—The Baker-Trisler Company are closing out their stock of books and pictures and will hereafter devote the space occupied by these departments, and their energy to the selling of office supplies and furniture and commercial stationery.

GREENVILLE, O.—H. J. Brenneman has sold his bookstore to Omar S. Brodrick.

HOLYOKE, Mass.—The Fitzgerald Book and Art Company has been incorporated. Its officers are: President, Daniel Waters; treasurer, Daniel J. Fitzgerald; secretary, Frank E. Buckley. This means that Daniel J. Fitzgerald has taken into partnership two young men whom he has trained up from their boyhood until they are now experienced book and picture men. Frank Buckley is expert in the book and news and other business of a bookstore and Daniel Waters knows the picture and framing end of the business. Both are very popular young men. Mr. Fitzgerald has lived in Holyoke since the early eighteen hundred and sixties, when his mother came here from Ware with her four sons. One son, Edward, served in the war between the states and in the early seventies left Holyoke to go South and was never heard from again. The other sons were James, John and Daniel. John died twenty years ago. In 1872 James started a little bookstore in the basement of the Orrell building at the corner of High and Hampden Streets. Later he moved across the street to the Hutchins' block but that was burned in 1875 and he went back to the Orrell building and stayed there until 1883, when he moved to the Cleary building, where the Fitzgerald bookstore has been located since, and has become one of the landmarks of the city. James Fitzgerald died in 1884 and his brother Daniel, who before had worked in various places in the city, took the business and has conducted it for the quarter of a century since. His mother had always been active in the store and its management up to her death, seven years ago this fall. Mr. Buckley has been with the store since 1888, first as boy working after school, then as clerk. Mr. Waters also went on as a newsboy while still at school.

MARYSVILLE, Cal.—H. R. Bodge, bookseller-stationer, has sold out to J. E. Bluett.

MILLTOWN, Me.—John Wade has opened a book and stationery store here.

NEW YORK CITY.—August R. Ohman & Co., successors to the Colton map publishing firm, have been petitioned into involuntary bankruptcy.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Cromwell Company has been incorporated as printers, publishers, bookbinders, etc., by Ernest M. Schoonmaker and Herbert J. Little, No. 1219 Forty-sixth, Brooklyn, and John W. Gardner, No. 518 West 148th Street, New York.

NEW YORK CITY.—Hans Mischke, bookseller and dealer in art works, engravings, etc., has removed to 152 William Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Keystone Bookstore has established itself at 563 West 145th Street.

OAKLAND, Cal.—I. Fuchiwaki, Japanese bookseller, has sold out to T. Ishihara.

RICHMOND, Va.—Edward S. Evans, formerly assistant State Librarian of Virginia, later vice-president of the Bell Book and Stationery Company and now president of the Evans Press, has been elected president of the Bureau of Sales and Exchange, which intends to deal in unlisted securities, with connections throughout the South, and with correspondents in the country at large.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—We learn from the correspondent of the Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer, that the store of the Johnson News Company at 66 Eddy Street has been greatly enlarged, and instead of carrying simply a line of racing periodicals and stationery a full line of books and stationery has now been added. The main store of this firm is located at 1451 Fillmore Street. The Wellendorf Book Company has taken up its permanent location at 911 Market Street, where a full line of second-hand books is carried. The firm does not restrict its operations to second-hand books altogether, and quite a complete line of new books of low price is carried also. Owing to the high rents asked for downtown locations, M. H. Fay, a bookseller, has decided to retire from active business for a while, and whether he will open up again depends on how the others make out downtown. He has closed his retail store out on Van Ness Avenue.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

OTTO HARRASSOWITZ, 14 Queerstr., Leipzig, has brought out the third annual issue of "Jahrbuch der Bücherpreise, 1908," the German auction price record, edited by C. Beck, containing a record of the European auction sales-records, exclusive of the English auction sales, for 1908. The volume includes 40 sales and, roughly, about 5000 titles. (10+325 p. 16° flex. cl., 10 marks.)

H. LE SOUDIER, 174 Boulevard Saint-Germain, Paris, has just published for the sixteenth time his valuable "Annuaire de la Librairie Française, 1909." The volume contains the latest information of the various booktrade associations, their officers, etc.; lists of booksellers and publishers, alphabetically arranged and arranged by cities, departments and colonies, also, by specialties, and other data. The frontispiece is a portrait of the late Armand Colin, accompanied by a biographical sketch written by H. Le Soudier. (8+476 p. 12°, cl.)

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.

B. T. Batsford, 94 High Holborn, London, Sets and series of the Transactions and Proceedings of various Learned and Scientific Societies and of some Technical Journals relating to architecture, engineering, mining, etc. (100 titles.)

Sherwood's, 48 Maiden Lane, New York, Notable books in fiction. (4 p. nar. 4°.)

Henry Sotheran & Co., 140 Strand W. C., London, Eng., Literature, science and art. (No. 695, 614 titles.)

D. Van Nostrand Company, 23 Murray St., New York, Books on Electricity arranged under 32 subject headings. (Catalogue, Scientific Books, pt. 2, July, 1909. 96 p. 8°.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD have in preparation a story for boys entitled "Winning His Shoulder Straps," by a new writer, Norman Brainerd. The story is the first of the Five Chum Series, and the "straps" are only a military school decoration, but the struggle for them often includes more pains and fears than come to the average West Point cadet.

BRENTANO'S will bring out late in the summer a volume entitled "Reminiscences of My Life," by Sir Charles Santley, the famous English baritone. The author writes at the age of seventy-four, and his reminiscences cover a period of active life in his profession of over fifty-five years. The book is replete with anecdotes of Mr. Santley's contemporaries, such as Fanny Kemble, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, &c.

THE author of the anonymous "Letters from G. G.," which have been appearing in the American Magazine, has just concluded a contract with Henry Holt & Co. for their appearance in book form in the fall. She still insists on keeping her anonymity, and in these letters gives an interesting glimpse of a woman artist earning a precarious living and writing from such widely different places as Paris, New York, Florence, Cape Cod and Florida.

WHEN "Fifty-Four Forty or Fight" was published a large proportion of the short-memoried American public thought the title cryptic or crazy. All sorts of amusing mistakes and more amusing guesses were made as to its meaning. In New Orleans, for instance, it happens that the number of the municipal "move-on" ordinance is 5440. When Mr. Hough's book appeared in the windows of the bookstores the police thought it was an attempt to have a little fun with them.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will bring out early in the fall a new novel by Mrs. Wilfrid Ward entitled "The Bright Fortune," in which the author tells a story of London life, making the interest of the plot centre about a mysterious bequest made by a prominent figure in London society. Starting with this somewhat melodramatic situation, the author has told a fascinating story of London life marked by pictures of the great world, a presentation at court, and all the lesser observances of fashionable society, with moving and sympathetic character studies, and throughout a strong and striking plot. "The Bright Fortune," it is said, might be called the "English House of Mirth."

MOFFAT, YARD & Co. will publish early in the fall a book of importance by Dr. Richard Clarke Cabot of Harvard University, on "Social Service and the Art of Healing." Dr. Cabot's part in the recent developments in social service makes this book one of unusual interest. Elizabeth Robins's new novel, also announced for publication early in autumn, is said by her friends to be her most earnest effort in fiction. It is to be entitled "The Florentine Frame," and it will deal with a human situation of an unusual and vital interest. The scene is New York City and the characters are all American. It is well known that Miss Robins, notwithstanding her successful European career, is, in a very complete sense, American. She was born in Louisville.

SIMULTANEOUSLY with the news of the home-coming of Lieutenant Shackleton and his party from the Antarctic continent, where they not only determined with definiteness the location of the South Magnetic Pole, but reached the farthest south yet attained by explorers, comes the announcement of the publication in the fall, by arrangement with William Heinemann, of the full account of the Shackleton expedition by the J. B. Lippincott Company. Lieutenant Shackleton's story will require two volumes for the telling, and the books will be lavishly illustrated in color and from a series of admirable photographs taken by the party, the illustrations numbering upward of 300 in all. A new map of the South Pole region will also accompany the work.

MR. HUBERT H. LONGMAN, of the firm of Longmans, Green & Co., was created Baronet on June 25. This, it is believed, is the first time that an English publisher has received such an honor from his sovereign. Sir Hubert is the third son of the late William Longman, and was born in 1856. He was educated at Harrow and at University College, Oxford, and entered the famous publishing house in Paternoster Row in 1880. He was made J. P. for the County of Surrey in 1894. In 1904 and again in 1907 he was elected to the Surrey County Council, of which he is still a member, and this year he was returned at the top of the poll for the first Windlesham Urban Council. Besides his duties in the publishing business, Sir Hubert is also an active director of The Publishers' Circular. On behalf of the American book-trade we offer our congratulations and best wishes.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish shortly "Jason," the new novel by Justus Miles Forman, which was to have been published some weeks ago. They are preparing to issue a series of volumes, to be known as The Readers' Library, under the editorship of William J. Dawson and Coningsby William Dawson. The "library" will present a series of classic examples of the various modes or forms of literary expression throughout the years in which they have existed; examples of the letter, the essay, the novel, the biography, etc. The editing of the volumes will include a critical preface on the writers, their age, etc., and various illuminating notes. It is expected that The Readers' Library will provide for the growing taste for chosen examples of literature which has attained classical value. The first section to be issued will be entitled "The Great English Letter Writers." This will be in two volumes, and will be published in a week or two.

CASSELL & COMPANY, LTD., have added eleven titles to their National Library of English Classics, which now numbers 111 titles. The new titles are eight of Shakespeare's plays, completing the set as published by the National Library, and three books by John Ruskin: "Unto This Last," with an introduction by J. A. Hobson; "The Two Paths," introduction by Graham Wallas, and "The Political Economy of Art, or, 'A Joy Forever,'" with an introduction by C. F. Masterman. They will publish shortly four new volumes in the Cobden Club Publications. These publications are generally made anonymously, the authors of the books in question being quoted as leading authorities—usually members of Parliament—on the subject of foreign trade and the tariff. So far 17 volumes have been published in this series. The forthcoming titles are: "Fallacies of Protection, or, Economic Sophisms," "The Case Against Protection," "The Scientific Tariff," and "Tariff Makers."

STURGIS & WALTON COMPANY, New York, will publish at once the second edition of "Mosby's Rangers: a Record of the Operations of the Forty-third Battalion Virginia Cavalry from Its Organization to the Surrender," by James J. Williamson of Company A, who has thoroughly revised the old material and added much new matter. They will begin in September the publication of what is to be known as The Court Series of French Memoirs, translated from the French and edited by E. Jules Meras. This series, which will be completed in ten volumes, will cover the period from the death of Louis IV., through the Regency of the Duc d'Orleans, the reigns of Louis XV. and XVI., the Revolution, and the reign of Napoleon Bonaparte. The first volume to be published will be "The Royal Family in the Temple Prison," being the journal of its confinement kept by Clery, valet to Louis XVI. The subsequent volumes in the series will be issued month by month, and will comprise material drawn from authoritative sources. Each volume will be illustrated with reproductions from contemporary portraits and prints.

C. A. MONTGOMERY, P. O. Box 888, New York, has added another to the many so-called solutions of the "secret parentage" of the works of Shakespeare, which Helen Keller has called "the greatest problem in literature." This brochure, handsomely printed by the De Vinne Press, contains four 4-page folders and three loose supplementary plates. He entitles it in old style "Ye V. Club Heralds to the Worlde Ye Discoveries which 'Prove' Authoritatively Ye 'Secret Parentage' of Ye Workes of Shake-speare": 1, Ye Prefatorie Verse in Ye First Folio, 1623; 2, Ye Verse in the Memorie of W. Shaxespere; 3, Ye Latine Inscription on Ye Monument 1616-1623; 4, Ye English Inscription on Ye Monument 1616-1623; 5, Ye Epitaph on Ye Tombstone, 1616. These five well-known Shakespeareana Mr. Montgomery declares to be anagrams which he with patience and much cleverness has deciphered and of which he prints his solutions, using in every case every letter, every punctuation point, and not one letter or punctuation point more. His solutions all point to Francis Bacon as the author. In every case he describes how he reached his point.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers, under their own names, are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, or those advertising anonymously, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line. All objectionable books will be excluded so far as they come under our notice.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No reduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplaced advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no account must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

Write In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay" book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

ISSUED FROM

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY OFFICE

The Publishers' Weekly

Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, cumulated quarterly, news of interest concerning the book trade, lists of "Books Wanted," (an advertising feature which each subscriber can use without charge to the extent of 100 lines per year,) etc., etc. Subscription, $4.00 a year; to foreign countries, $5.00 a year.

The Annual American Catalog, 1908

In two parts: A short-title index to all the book publications of the year and a full-title index, with brief annotation of the leading books of 1908. (Ready March, 1909.) 8vo, cloth, $3.00.

The American Catalog, 1905-1907

Vol. I containing in one alphabet an index to all books published during 1905-06-07; under author, title, subject and series entries. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II containing the full-title Weekly Record material of The Publishers' Weekly for the same years, in a separate alphabet for each year. 8vo, half morocco, $6.00.

The American Catalog, 1900-1905

Vol. I contains a five-year cumulation, Jan. 1, 1900-Jan. 1, 1905, giving in one alphabet, by author, title and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by this period. It also contains a directory of over 3800 publishers, with street addresses. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II or Supplementary volume gives the full-title entries with annotations printed in the Weekly Record of The Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i.e., into five alphabets 1900, 01, 02, 03, 04. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, bookdealers, and others as want the full material of The Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50. The set of two, $15.

Of the previous series of THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE, quarto size, the earlier volumes are out of print. We have remaining a few copies of the volumes 1890-95 and 1895-1900, bound in half morocco, $15.00 each.

The Publishers' Trade List Annual

Contains the latest catalogues of upward of 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names, with smaller lists, fully indexed, at the end of the volume, indispensable to every one who has any interest in the sale or purchase of books. Large 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

Index to the Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1902, out of print.

The Supplementary Index, 1903-1904, 500 pages, 8vo, cloth, with thumb index, $3.00. The alphabet in this volume is supplementary to the original Index of 1902.

The Library Journal

Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription $4.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 35 cents. Price to Europe or other countries in the Union, 16s. a year; single numbers, 1s. 6d.

The Annual Library Index

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., Bibliographies, Necrology, Index to Dates of Principal Events, and a Directory of Libraries. Edited, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER. (Published annually.) The volume covering 1908, $5.00; all prior volumes, $3.50 each.

The American Educational List

Contains a price-list of the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. (Published annually.) 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

English Catalogue of Books (Annual)

Containing a complete list of all the books published in Great Britain and Ireland in the calendar year, with index to subjects. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

Directory of Publishers

Contains names and addresses of 3789 firms and individuals who issued books in the U. S. from Jan. 1, 1905, to Dec. 31, 1907. (Reprinted from The American Catalog.) 8vo, leatherette, red edges, $1.00.

The Profession of Bookselling

A handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWOLL, managing editor of The Publishers' Weekly, author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Three Centuries of English-Booktrade Bibliography," etc. Parts 1 and 2. 8vo, boards, each $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

Publications of Societies

A provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary and other societies, from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules nearly 1000 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 8vo, paper, $2.50.

State Publications

A provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Part 1: New England States.
